Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, 1 No. 102 Hull Street, Va., Mr. Benjamin Novey, formerly of New York, but now of Blackstone, Va., and Miss Rebecca Oppleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Oppleman, of No. 130 Hull Street, were married Sunday afternoon at 6 o'clock in the Sir Moses Montefiore Synagogue, in Richmond. OLD SORES ROOTED IN THE BLOOD

Old Sores are the result of a deeply polluted, foul blood supply. The blood is filled with poisons, and as it finds an outlet through the ulcer, the surrounding parts become diseased and the sore eats deeper into the tissues and flesh and becomes a permanent trouble.

Some years ago while at work, I fell over a truck and severely injured both my arms. My blood became poisoned as a result, and the doctor told me I would have running sores for life, and that if they were closed up the results would be fatal. Under this discouraging report I left off their treatment and resorted to the use of S. S. S. Its effects were prompt and gratifying. It took only a short while for the medicine to drive out the place cancerous. I was healed as the doctors intimated I would be, neither have the sores ever broken out again, and some twelve years have elapsed since what I have described occurred. Having been so signally benefited by its use, I can heartily recommend it as the one great blood purifier.

Wheeling, W. Va., J. W. FUNDIS, Care Schmalz Brewing Co.

Salves, powders, plasters, etc., do no good, and the sufferer gets disgusted and often despairs of curing an old sore. The trouble is in the blood and until the poisonous matter that is keeping the ulcer driven out the place cannot be healed. S. S. S. reaches these old sores through the blood by removing every particle of poison or impurity from the circulation and building up the system. It makes the blood healthy so that as it circulates to the diseased parts the tissues are strengthened and the sore can heal naturally and permanently. If you have an old sore or ulcer do not waste time with salves, powders, plasters, etc., but write for our book and ask for any medical advice you wish. We make no charge for either.

MAKES GOOD SHOWING.

Report of Comptroller of Norfolk and Western Most Creditable.

The report of Comptroller Joseph W. Cox, of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, of earnings of that system for the month of May and for the eleven months of the fiscal year just closed, makes a fine showing of business for that line. Operating expenses for the month were $1,257,847.45, an increase of $102,112.33, compared with May, 1904, but in 1905, 112 miles more of road were operated than in 1904. Net earnings for May were $985,155.54, an increase of $47,388.51, over the month last year.

Earnings for the eleven months to June 1st were $21,920,417.31, an increase of $1,667,337.82 over the same period of the preceding year, a gain of about five per cent. Operating expenses for the eleven months were $12,990,596.16, an increase of $1,000,000.00 over the preceding year. FIRE AT CENTRAL STATE HOSPITAL

Small Barn Burns and Threatens Other Buildings.

GOOD FIRE FIGHTING FORCE

Night Watchman and Officials Use Pumps to Fine Effect.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PETERSBURG, Va., July 3.—Fire at the Central State Hospital, shortly after one o'clock Sunday night, destroyed a barn filled with straw and shucks, used for making manure, containing a loss of about five hundred dollars, with about two hundred dollars insurance. A prompt alarm by one of the night watch, and excellent work with the pumps, hose and other apparatus by the hospital fire department, confined the flames to the barn, which was located several hundred yards from any occupied building, but was dangerously near the big barn, crib and stables, all of which were saved without damage.

GOOD FIRE WORK.
Thirty or more male officers and employers, constituting the night force, rendered invaluable service, and the use of the storage tanks and pumps installed a few years ago saved much damage. The fire department and night watch service of the institution proved more than equal to the severe test. The origin of the fire is not certainly known, but spontaneous combustion is supposed to have occurred in the straw. The Chief of Police Ragland's report for the past month shows a total of one hundred and thirty-nine arrests.

hired C. L. Page, Commonwealth's attorney, and do not think him in condition to appear in court and continue his conduct of the Smith trial to-day. It might result in a nervous collapse.

(Signed) "E. G. HILL, M. D."
"July 3, 1905."

Mr. Page was resting comfortably last night, and both he and Dr. Hill hope that he will be able to take up the case on Wednesday morning.

Lady Quite Ill.

One of the saddest incidents of the trial is the condition of Mrs. Turner. This lady, the widow of Mr. Turner, who died before the case came to trial, has been a physical wreck ever since her husband's death. She, too, bears in mind the tragedy of her next door neighbors, and to such a degree that she had said to her friends over and over again: "I don't believe I shall ever go to the trial." For three days she waited her turn, sitting in Judge Clifton's office, and the days were full of intense excitement. Just before she was called to the stand on Saturday she said: "I don't know whether I will be able to tell the whole tale." On the stand she broke down twice, and finally had to be literally carried into the Judge's office, where a physician pronounced her condition serious. She is a nervous wreck, and it is said that if she leaves her house to go to court, she will run desperate risks of a total breakdown.

Judge Moore, of Chesterfield, was in a serious condition on Friday night, but under the care of the city physician he is again quite well.

Six persons have therefore been stricken down while in attendance on the Smith case, and the trial has once been carried over to another term, and during this term has been twice continued on account of the illness of a witness and of the prosecuting attorney.

The longer the trial of the case is delayed, the greater chance has the accused to be acquitted, and it seems as though fate, in the guise of illness, has determined to bring about delay.

Court Adjourns.

When court convened on yesterday Judge Clifton announced that he was compelled to adjourn court until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. "I regret this as much as you do," said Judge Clifton, turning to the home-sick jury, "but I am obliged to do so, because of the serious illness of Mr. Page and the continued indisposition of Mrs. Turner. I had not intended holding court on July 4th, and therefore the delay is but one day."

Judge Clifton when seen after court stated that he did not believe that it would be legal to hold court on July 4th, as the 4th was a legal holiday.

Mr. Smith, the prisoner, looked down from the jail on yesterday morning with Sergeant Saunders and entered the sergeant's office where her mother and brother awaited her. She kissed both of them affectionately and greeted her counsel and Mr. and Mrs. Ashburner who were in the night State Marshal's office for her counsel and excellent spirits, for her counsel informed her that they would examine witnesses in her behalf shortly after court opened and their testimony would be all in her favor.

The delay was a distinct disappointment to her, for now, before Saturday will be able to hear the words of the jury make the difference, or probably that will seal her fate.

Sick of City Life.

The jurors look tired and depressed, for they are quite as much prisoners as are Mrs. Smith, and her husband.

On Sunday they attended service at Central Methodist Church and listened to a sermon by the Rev. Dr. Chandler, after which they spent the afternoon in the courthouse, where they were free from interruption, and where they passed their time in singing hymns together.

Mrs. Smith spent Sunday in jail, while her brother and mother were in Petersburg the guest of their cousin, Hon. R. B. Davis.

If Mrs. Turner is not able to again stand on the stand, or cross-examine, all of her testimony for the prosecution will go for naught. It will be stricken out, and it is possible that counsel for defense will ask for a new trial on the grounds that her damaging statements have gotten before the jury. If Mr. Page is as unwell as he was with the case on Wednesday, Judge Clifton will probably continue the case to some day later in the week, when, in the opinion of his physician, he will be able to take up the case.

How many witnesses the defense will put on the stand, no one knows, not even counsel. Mr. H. M. Smith, senior counsel, stated that he does not expect to consume more than two days in his examination of witnesses for the prisoner, and that neither he or his associates, as at present they are advised, will make long speeches. Mr. Smith also stated that he could not believe that the prosecution would attempt to offer the sworn statement of Mr. Turner. "It would not be evidence," said Mr. Smith, "and we should object vigorously to its introduction."

Mr. Page refused to say whether he would or would not offer Mr. Turner's statement.

CHASE CITY COUPLE WED.

Pemberton, Price & Co., Sell Out to Simco, Tacket & Co.

In the Chancery Court late last night a decree was entered by consent, transferring the stock, fixtures, lease, etc., of Pemberton, Price & Company, dry goods merchants at No. 209 East Broad Street to Simco, Tacket & Company, for $25,000, which amount was arrived at after an interview as of June 28th, 1905.

It is understood that the business will be conducted by a few firms as heretofore, and so far as the public is concerned, there will be no difference. It is not known who compose the new firm, but it is said that local dry goods people are behind it.

The stock had heretofore been attached and instead of an assignment, there was a sale by consent, which is satisfactory to all parties. The sale includes the stock and fixtures and the unexpired lease up to July 1, 1906, and the new firm is commencing August 1, 1905, and expiring July 31, 1910.
